

Hypres

HYPRES develops and commercializes Superconductor MicroElectronics (SME) that provide unparalleled economic and performance advantages for the commercial and defense wireless markets. SME technology brings the power of digital processing to the RF domain -- a change in the basic paradigm of wireless communications that will revolutionize the industry and the markets. HYPRES is widely recognized worldwide as the most advanced in its field. Please visit www.hypres.com